Harford Community College's Board of Trustees requires a governance system that provides the means for faculty, staff, administrators, and students to participate collegially in decision-making that supports the College's mission, vision, values, and strategic direction. The Board of Trustees' focus is at the institutional planning and policy level; the College President (or their designees) is responsible for the operational and implementation levels.

Although collegial governance councils are advisory, the Board respects the expertise and perspectives of the councils and acknowledges the importance of their input. As such, the Board encourages regular updates from the councils to the Board in a manner determined appropriate by the President.
